RUSSIA AND BELLS

THERE have been various writers on Russian bells. The late Ernest Morris, in 'Bells of All Nations,' devotes considerable space to the Tsarine Kolokol, the great bell of Moscow, weighing about 193 tons, which was cast in 1733 and buried by the great fire of Moscow in 1737. It is from Augte de Montferrand, who raised the bell in 1836, that there is a record of how the bell was fractured during the fire. He writes:—

'The records of the time relate that, having become extremely hot, it cracked when it was reached by the water which the inhabitants with over-great zeal threw on it to save it, and which occasioned a contrary effect to that which they expected. The charcoal and the blackened wood which I found in the surrounding ground, and particularly close to the bell, left no doubt as to the truth of the narration of the accident.'

The Rev. Geo. S. Tyack, in his book about bells, 1898, writes of Russia being a country of great bells, and states that even small towns frequently possess bells surpassing in dimensions famous examples. A church to suffer in the epic French invasion of 1812 was St. John's Church, Moscow, with a great bell of 96 tons, another big bell of 55 tons and 32 smaller bells in the belfry.

From the winter issue of 'Overtones,' the magazine of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers, an insight is given to Russian ringing. The ringers are called zvonari, and when they ring several bells they produce a pattern of sound called a zvon. The Russian word means, like the English 'ring,' both a set of bells and their sound.

A few small bells added to a zvon make a trezvon. A wild, cacophonous effect is produced by the rapid ringing of high-toned bells against the boom of several deep monsters. It is a trezvon that Moussorgsky imitates in the coronation scene of his opera Boris Gaudonav. Rimsky Korsakov also depicts Russian bellringing in his 'Russia Easter Overture.' Prokofieff makes use of Russian bells in the film 'Alexander Nevsky.'

How do the zvonari ring? Percival Price, an American carillonneur, makes this suggestion: while it may require several men to pull the clapper of one large bell, when the bells are not too big one ringer may ring several bells at once. He holds a sort of 'control stick' from which wires run to the clappers. By twisting or jiggling his hand he may make a continuous jangle. He may also ring a large bell by using his feet as a lever. There is a primitiveness about the surroundings as the ringer performs among his bells in an open belfry in all weathers! Mason Hammond, a Harvard classics professor, states that the tones of the bells 'are based not upon a Western but upon an Eastern scale, a combination, perhaps, of Byzantine and Tartar influence.'

At Havard, in Lowell House, there is a 26 ton Russian zvon, purchased in 1930 from the Soviet Government by Richard T. Crane, the bells having originally hung in the Damailov Monastery in Moscow.

The Russians, states 'Overtones,' sent an expert but eccentric bellringer named Saradjeff with the bells to supervise their installation. Saradjeff thought that some of the bells needed tuning, and he proceeded to chip pieces from their edges. The President of Harvard feared that he might ruin the bells and ordered him to stop. After an epileptic seizure, Saradjeff was committed to an infirmary, where he drank ink as an antidote to the poison he believed he was being administered there. This was too much for Harvard, and Saradjeff was persuaded to return to Russia!

Another Russian, named Andonoff, was then engaged to ring the bells, but his performances were received with mixed reaction. Richard T. Crane, the donor, was a leading manufacturer of toilet fixtures. During one of Andonoff's performances the residents of Lowell House flushed all their Crane toilets in unison and flooded the college sewage system!

'The History of Church Bell Ringing,' by Oloviannikov, is the classic work on Russian bellringing, and a specimen of a Russian zvon taken from the book is given in the accompanying issue of 'Overtones.'

BIGGEST BELL EXPORT ORDER FOR 40 YEARS

A CARILLON of 53 bronze bells, Britain's biggest bell export order for 40 years, will leave England for America next month (May) to be installed in the 200 ft. tower of the new National Episcopal Cathedral, Washington, D.C. More than 45 tons of pure copper and nearly 15 tons of tin were used in casting the bells.

The 4½ octave carillon has been cast at the 200-year-old Loughborough Bell Foundry of John Taylor and Co., and it will be a major transport operation to ship the bells. With its 35 ft. supporting framework the carillon weighs 100 tons.

The biggest bell, which sounds the note E flat, weighs 10½ tons. It is 7 ft. high and 8 ft. 8 in. in diameter. The smallest bell weighs 20 lb. and is 7 in. in diameter. Bell bottoms—special wooden platforms—will be used to protect the bells in transit. The bells will be handled as delicately as eggs to prevent damage to the lips and to preserve their purity of tone. A fleet of nine lorries will take the bells to the docks for the start of a 4,000-mile sea and road journey. At Baltimore, Maryland, another fleet will be waiting to deliver the bells to the capital.

The bells are a gift under the will of Miss Bessie Juliet Kibbey, who died in 1949, at the age of 92. Work on the cathedral tower is nearly completed.

INSCRIPTIONS FROM THE PSALMS

On each of the bells, except the smallest, is an inscription from the Psalms, arranged to be sung on Miss Kibbey's birthday.

The biggest bell carries the inscriptions, 'Praise God through these Bells,' and underneath 'This carillon given by Bessie Juliet Kibbey, 1857-1949.' On the other side is inscribed, 'The Lord He is God,' and the smallest bell has a simple and final 'Amen, Amen.'

Mr. Paul Taylor, head of the bell foundry, said: 'Casting bells is a combination of art, science and craftsmanship. Bell foundrymen have their own methods of casting based on experience over the centuries. They are kept a strict secret.'

'Bell metal is the only alloy which gives the right tone. It consists of seven parts of copper to two of tin. For many years there have been experiments to find a cheaper alloy without any success. The mixture of copper and tin is the only alloy which produces the true ring.'

ENGLISH BELLS SELECTED

A team from the cathedral toured leading churches in America in a search for the right type of bells. After hearing carillons and many rings they came to England to place the order.

There was another visit to Loughborough recently by the cathedral's clerk of works, Mr. R. T. Feller; the organist, Mr. Richard W. Dirkson; and the carillonneur, Mr. Ronald M. Barnes, to inspect the completed carillon. There was an unforgettable moment of drama in the foundry when Mr. Barnes moved to the keyboard to play the carillon for the first time. Seventy foundrymen—some have been with the firm 50 years—quietly put down their tools and formed a circle round the carillon they had built. They stood as still as if they had been cast in their own bell metal as they listened with the pride of true craftsmen to the inspiring music of the bells booming and rippling through the dusty shop.

This is believed to be the first handbell peal on the island.

A section of the 53 bells at the Loughborough Bell Foundry before departure for America. The bells range in weight from 10½ tons to 20 lb., and in size from seven inches to eight feet eight inches in diameter.

BROKEN ROPE ENDS LONG LENGTH

The attempt for the long length of 24,119 Grandsire Caters on the Loughborough Campanile on April 6th, by Bristol University Society, ceased after 2 hours 17 minutes, due to a broken rope on the second bell. The band was very disappointed as the ringing had settled down very well. It is hoped to make another attempt later in the year.

The band would like to express their thanks to Maurice Hughes, Judith Atkinson and Geoffrey Brown, for their assistance as umpires, and to Mr. Paul Taylor for the use of the bells. A peal of Grandsire Caters was rung later in the day.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION Eastern District

Largely owing to the meeting clashing with that of the Doncaster Society at Arksey, the spring meeting of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association at Campsall on March 30th only attracted about 24 ringers.

The service in the church was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. G. Key) and tea was served in the Vicarage by Mrs. Key and helpers. Mr. H. Walker, the vice-president, was in the chair for the business meeting, when Mr. Philip Tomlinson, of Sherburn-in-Elmet, was elected a member.

Mr. L. M. Woodhead congratulated Mr. T. H. Foster on being accepted as a lay reader by the Bishop of Sheffield. If possible, the next meeting will be at Hemingbrough on June 22nd.

The eight bells were kept going in the afternoon and evening, and welcome visitors were the Misses Burchnall and Mr. and Miss Hawcroft, from Sutton-on-Trent, Notts.

AMERICAN HANDBELL CONVENTION

The presence of Mr. Frederick Sharpe at the Eighth National Convention of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers at Detroit, Michigan, on June 26th, 27th and 28th, will add interest to the event on this side of the Atlantic.

The fee for the three days at the Conference, including food, programme of lectures, demonstrations, concerts, sight-seeing and the barbecue, is $30. For chaperones the fee is $20. In addition there is the room rate at the Park Shelton Hotel, which varies from $2.50 per night for teenagers, four or five in a room, to $6 per person, single room. Chaperones housed with ringers are charged $3.

Registrations close on June 10th and should be accompanied by a $10 deposit. This should be sent with cheque to Mrs. Eleanor E. Lenz, 5290 Marseilles, Detroit 24, Michigan, U.S.A.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Bells at Kilifi, Kenya

Dear Sir,—Your readers may wish to hear what progress was made between St. Thomas' Day, December 21st, 1962, when the ring of six was installed and dedicated, and March 20th, when I last saw the ringers before finally leaving the country.

In January and early February practices were held every night except Sundays, from 5 to 6.30, or later, with the usual variable attendances, several recruits falling by the wayside. In the end the following persons could ring the bells up and down, and in rounds, and were practising call changes:

Mr. Enoch Benjamin, a Pokomo, our organist, retired building foreman from the Ministry of Works. Church elder;

Mr. Timothy Ramtu, a Digo, graduate of Edinburgh University, District Education Officer;

Mr. Gideon Ngetsa, a Giriama, senior Government driver. Church elder;

Mr. Albert Charo, a Giriama, master at Kilifi Primary School, Sunday school teacher;

Mr. Francis Stoo, a Giriama, artisan at Local Government Workshop;

Kahindi, Kazungu and Charo, primary school boys.

They have two books on elementary change ringing, and strips of hardboard containing courses of Stedman, Kent Treble Bob, Bob Doubles, Grandsire, Bob Minimus, plain hunt and examples of Bob and Single. It will be interesting to see how far they can get by next Christmas!

The bells have been paid for, but the fund is overdrawn by £100. We naturally want to clear this off as soon as possible, and also to buy two more bells at £100 each to fill the gap in the bell frame, and to provide chiming mechanism to connect the clock to the bells at a cost of £250. Contributions may be sent to the Kilifi Church Bell Fund, c/o Midland Bank, Acock's Green, Birmingham, 27.—Yours faithfully,

W. F. P. KELLY.

Ringers' Names

Dear Sir,—Having read with interest Ringers' Names, and Others, I notice an error in the names of the ringers who took part in the colour peal. These should read: George Gray, Fred White, Stafford Green, William Brown, Harold Hazell, William Rose, Nolan Golden, Alan Pink.

The name included in the writer's list published last week, Robert Black, was not one of the band.

'Crescendo' missed out a few in the food list, namely: Fry, Bacon, Rice.

In clothing, we find: Coates, Ruffles, Tucker.

Among birds, there is Woodcock.

Then, of course, going back a few years, there were some really uncommon names, I remember those of Andrew Shufflebotham, Arthur Longbottom, Joseph Leatherbarrow, etc.—Yours, etc.,

HAROLD HAZELL.

Enfield, Middlesex.

Ringers' names are not the only thing that make peculiar coincidences, writes 'Crescendo.' In Cornwall I saw a crash between a car with registered letters DAD and another with the letters MUM. When motoring to Bourne-mouth I saw a car with the letters RAT being followed by another registered CAT.

Copenhagen Carillon

Dear Sir,—I feel I must write and correct an error regarding the paragraph about the carillon in Our Saviour's Church, Copenhagen. I was there some years ago and saw this, and brought back with me a booklet in Danish giving its whole history and, in fact, that of all the bells in the tower. I have had this translated.

Your paragraph states 1717/34: this is entirely wrong. The first part of the carillon was not heard until 1917, and then only eight bells. The 33 bells were eventually consecrated in 1928, and then another seven were added, and finally another four. This makes 44 bells. I don't know where the discrepancy in the number comes in, but it was the date that attracted my attention.

I have often heard this carillon at Christmas time, when it used to be, and, I believe, still is, broadcast on Christmas Eve, ringing Danish carols, and there was an H.M.V. record (78), No. X4742 (Danish List), a copy of which I still have, which was quite good, but spoiled in places by noisy traffic in the street below. This was played by the organist Rung-Keller.

The portion in your paragraph about the old historical bells and the 'Te Deum' theme is correct. A clockwork mechanism was installed in 1931, and a hymn-time is played every three hours, till midnight. Besides this a special bell-tune is played at each hour. Whether or not Mr. Rung-Keller is still alive I cannot say, but if he is, he must be very old now.—Yours faithfully,

ARTHUR H. COOMBS.

Dulwich, S.E.22.

Biographies Wanted

Dear Sir,—The Central Council's Biographies Committee would welcome information either from relatives or ringers who knew of the following members.

The committee have no details concerning the undermentioned in their records.

R. Binns, S. Cordell, H. Denman, A. W. Davis, H. Edwards, H. G. Fretwell, C. Evans, J. W. England, G. Hitchman, C. W. Lawton, A. Lawrence, J. Lord, J. Morgan, B. D. Price, F. T. Spence, F. A. Salter, F. D. Teague, K. Thacker, J. G. or G. T. Wallaston.

The three following, only the date of their death and their age is required: F. Ball, J. Griffin, W. Stainthorpe.—Yours, etc.,

A. C. HAZELDEN.

Convener.

109, Grange Road,

Guildford, Surrey.

'Mischief' leaves her Ringing Friends

Dear Sir,—I am sure that her many ringing friends will be sorry to learn that 'Mischief' has gone to happier hunting grounds, at the age of 12. In her 10½ years of loyal companionship, she had accompanied me on visits to over 1,000 towers, and altogether had travelled over half a million miles. This, I should think, must very nearly constitute a canine record.—Yours sincerely,

E. T. P. FIELD.

Stoke-sub-Hamdon, Somerset.

Guildford Cathedral Bells

Dear Sir,—Your readers will have noticed from the report of the annual meeting of the Guildford Diocesan Guild that the Guild has issued an appeal to offset the cost of the four bells for the Guildford Cathedral that have not been promised. The sum required is in the region of £5,650, which also covers a proportion of the framework and hanging costs. The appeal has been launched through the medium of local papers covering the diocese and also by means of a letter to many companies.

The annual meeting particularly expressed its feeling that other bellringing Guilds and Associations should not be approached for a donation in view of the ever-increasing frequency of such appeals. However, I feel that the Exercise should be informed that donations will, of course, be acceptable, and should be sent to the undersigned.—Yours faithfully,

DOUGLAS A. R. MAY

(Master).

East Clandon, Surrey.

Grandsire Doubles

Dear Sir,—In reply to the letter by Mr. F. J. Sage (page 212), concerning Grandsire Doubles, I would like to make the following observations.

The method, Grandsire Doubles, consists of plain hunting, except for the thirds place made from backstroke to handstroke, immediately after the whole hunt bell has completed its whole lead.

This means that the method must have the same start as 'original,' except when the treble is the whole hunt bell. The observation bell does the work thirds, double 4-5 up at alternate leads, and so is always in either thirds place or fifths at the whole hunt backstroke lead. The bells in these places are the only two possible observation bells. Examination of the following table will demonstrate the correct observation bells.

	Whole hunt	Half hunts
21435	2	1-3
24153
42513	4	2-1
45231
54321	5	4-2
53412
35142	3	5-4
31524
13254	1	3-5
12345

With the above system each bell becomes the half hunt for two different whole hunts.

I have not read 'Grandsire' and consequently do not know of Trollope's system, but I suggest that the truth of the compositions contained in it be checked before any more peals of this type are rung.—Yours faithfully,

HUGH N. EVANS.

Downend, Bristol.

SIMPLE HANDBELL PEALS

By G. DODDS

THE article by Mr. Hudson on 'Simple Callings for Handbell Peals' (February 8th, page 93) interested me as a conductor who does not believe in making life too difficult when attempting to get a none-too-steady band through 'first peals.' This approach can be applied on other numbers of bells than Major, and the following ideas may be of interest to those handbell ringers who can ring touches, but always lose peals. All the touches and peals are simple and are ideal for early stages in handbell conducting.

DOUBLES

This has a technique of its own, where the work and places made have no natural symmetry, and there is no choice of extents available—all have to be rung at least once in the average peal. The treble and each temporary observation bell just have to be watched throughout.

MINOR

Most handbell ringers start with Minor, as there is an attractive symmetry of work and places ideally suited to working pairs of bells relative to one another. For a peal of Plain Bob Minor, one should try for seven different 720's—and not with only the singles shifted in one basic extent. Make 5-6 a good anchor by giving them regular part structures, e.g.:

1 6th Bob W; Single W; — Bob H.	5th Make Bob; Make Single; — Bob with 6th.
23456 W H	23456 W B	23456 W B H
52436 —	52346 —* S	52346 — S
32456 S	42356 S	54236 S S
53426 —		52436 — S S
42356 S —	Repeat 5 times with SS at * 360 changes apart.	32456 S 3	Repeated.
Repeat twice.

The first extent in this group is perhaps the easiest to ring on handbells, as calls are few and 5-6 are affected by only two calls, one to bob them out of coursing and the other to single them back again.

As shown, the bobs at Home occur with the front bells in-course (coursing orders 324, 243 and 432), but they can be placed instead in the second course of each part, with the front bells out-of-course (coursing order 234, 342 and 423).

This one composition could be used in a seven method peal, where, in 6ths place methods, the corresponding calls to Wrong and Home and In and Out. The basic part would be called 'S Out, Out, S Out, Out' (note the reversal of Bobs and Singles), and the 'In' would be called with 5-6 coursing at lead-ends, as the Home in the 2nds place composition.

2 6th Single W; Single W; Bob H.	5th Make Bob; Make Single; Bob with 6th.
23456 W H	23456 W B H	23456 W B H
53426 S*	53246 S S	53246 S S
42356 S —	43256 S S	53426 S S
	53426 S S	42356 S —
Repeat 5 times with Bobs at * 360 changes apart.	Repeat twice.	Repeat twice with S for B at H in last part; H, H, SH.

This type is almost a variation of the first, but is even simpler as a composition—3H with '5-6 parted' singled in at W, with the In and Out-of-course reversed by doubling with singles (or putting bob for single 360 changes apart).

3 6th Wrong; Home and Wrong (Standard Calling).	5th Make Bob; Out twice.
23456 W H	23456 W B H	23456 W B H
45236 —*	35246 — S —	52346 — S
34256 —	24356 — —	45236 S —
	45236 — S —	32456 — S
Repeat 5 times with SS at * 360 changes apart.	Repeat twice.	Repeat twice.

With Treble Bob methods, the obvious choice is the basic 'Standard Calling' (or In, Out, In in 6ths place methods), where Kent is a good introduction and Norwich the easiest of the Surprise group.

One more extent is well worth quoting and was given to me in chorus by two members of a well known handbell team of years ago, but it will be noticed that the main calls are reversed:

'Tinkle, tinkle, tinkle, tinkle.

Make the Bob and make the Single!

which with 6th observation is simply:

3W, make Single, make Bob, 3H. Repeated.

TRIPLES

As with Doubles, the work and places are asymmetrical. Very few methods other than Grandsire and Stedman are rung, and very few peals of Stedman are rung 'in hand' as the method is an end in itself, not leading one on to any other method.

The easiest Grandsire peals are either Parker's Twelve-Part, 7th observation, or one of the 3-lead course peals, where the conductor has to be on his toes to remember to call all the Bobs, and where to put in the odd Singles.

MAJOR

After Minor, this is the next logical step for peal ringing 'in hand'. The symmetry of work and places is similar and the range of methods and compositions is large. Most teams will naturally start with Plain Bob, so let us see which are the simplest for handbells.

Perhaps the most famous and popular of all is E. M. Atkins', which must have been called hundreds of times, either in its original form or in one of the many variations, and it is given pride of place in the Central Council booklet, 'Change Ringing on Handbells.' It is known to the composer as 'Tappa, tappa' from the labelling of parts and from its handbell simplicity.

An easier Twelve-Part peal from the point of view of 5-6 coursing is the following 5,184, where 7-8 are given the interest of 5ths/4ths and Before to help pass the time and any trouble in the one difficult lead per part can usually be corrected with only a little floundering. It will be noticed that the light bells, 2, 3, 4, retain their coursing order from 5/4ths to 5/4ths, as in each part of the previous peal and the H-W pair of calls are merely a 5/4ths on 5-6.

By CLAUDE RUSH

LETTER BY REV. H. T. ELLACOMBE

"It is often asked: "What is a peal?", and it seems strange that there should be any difficulty in answering the question The term is generally applied to any ringing of bells together—no matter whether of ten minutes' or ten hours' duration Such was the meaning in pre-Reformation times, as may be seen by an extract from the Lives of the Berkeleys, a MS. . . . in the possession of the College of Arms On the death of Lady Isabel, wife of Lord Maurice Berkeley, who died in 1516 at Coventry, the following ringing took place—"Rynging daily with all the Bells continually: that is to say, at St. Michael's xxxiii peles, at Trinitie xxxiii peles, at St. John's xxxiii peles, at Babyleak because it was so nigh, lvij peles and in the Mother Church xxx peles and every pele xiiij."

"But since the introduction of scientific change-ringing on the principle of permutations early in the last century [i.e., 18th century—C.R.] the term is known and used as a performance of the full number of changes of which the bells are capable or any number above 5,000: any portion of changes under that number with seven or more bells is called either a short or long touch; in some places a piece of ringing, by others a flourish on the bells, etc. . . ."

LETTER BY THOMAS NORTH, F.S.A., EDITOR OF 'LEICESTERSHIRE BELLS'

"Although I am not myself a ringer, I should be extremely sorry if the columns in "Church Bells" devoted to Bell-ringing were discontinued. I believe that the news there given attracts the attention of a body of men for whom little has hitherto been done, and that encouragement is likely to be given to scientific ringing"

DEATH KNELLS: FUNERAL KNELLS

"These are rung according to the custom of the place, but in every place three times three tolls for a man, three times two tolls for a woman either at the beginning or at the end of the passing bell, which would be the tenor or a small bell according to the age of the deceased. The passing bell is now [1877] usually tolled half an hour as soon as possible after death, and then rung out for half an hour (see Dr. Donne's Meditations) and then falled, and the age tolled and the sex announced as may be . . ."

"In a later issue came the following: . . . the custom at Gawsworth, Cheshire, is to ring the tenor up, and then set it each way for a quarter of an hour, and then ring it down again and then chime all round. For males, three times on each bell and twice round; for females twice on each bell and three times round for another quarter of an hour."

"Also: . . . at Colyton, Devon, six or twelve hours after death the great bell is tolled slowly, once for each year of the deceased . . . then, after a short pause, a lighter bell sounds for two or three triplets—two for a female, three for a male. In some places these are called "tellers" or "tailers," which is very probably the origin for saying "Nine tailors make a man," which in itself has a little sense as civility. I am not sure whether the single triplet for an infant was in use"

Thomas North wrote: ". . . These vary much in different parishes. Three tolls for a male and two for a female are the best, and follow ancient custom"

The Editor adds: "The custom for knolling, in all old-fashioned country parishes is, for children, to take the smaller bells, as the case may be, from treble upwards."

DURHAM DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION OF RINGERS

This Association held its inaugural meeting at Christ Church, North Shields, on Saturday, November 24th, 1877. It seems that ringing took place from before 10 a.m. until 9 p.m.

The Editor adds: "We congratulate Durham on this beginning, but are very sorry to hear that more consideration was not paid to the requirements and wishes of ringers from a distance as to time of holding the service (5.15 p.m.), which many were unable to attend for fear of missing their trains."

ST. PAUL'S, DENHOLME, YORKS

Nov. 19, 1877.—Eight members of the Denholme company rang 5,124 Treble Bob Major in 3 hrs. 6 mins., composed by Wm. Sottanstill, of Sorby. Tenor 15 cwt. "The above new ring was opened Nov. 4, 1876. Since then the company has been formed and for the last six months has been under the tuition of Mr. J. Jenkinson, of the Bradford Old Company"

"Disgraceful Condition of Bells and Belfries about Bury St. Edmunds, Suffolk."

Apparently a correspondent wrote to the paper with a complaint. The editor replied: "We advise "O.L." to lay his just complaints before the Archdeacon."

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION OF RINGERS

The first quarterly meeting was held at Lynn on December 10th, 1877, the inaugural meeting having taken place at Norwich, September 24th. "The meeting was not a large one as, with the exception of the company at Lynn, the ringers of the neighbourhood are but few, many of the belfries being in a sorry condition"

WOBURN, BEDFORDSHIRE

A set of Mr. Seage's "Church-bell dumb-practice apparatus" has recently (early 1877) been fixed to these bells "In justice to Mr. Seage it is right to say that his invention deserves great praise . . . obtaining an unlimited amount of practice for learners without annoying the neighbours Persevering efforts are being made to master change-ringing in Woburn, the only place in this county where it is practised"

DINTON, NEAR SALISBURY

"When the present clergyman came here some years ago (i.e., previous to 1877), the bells were in bad condition. Through his energy the bells have been rehung by Messrs. Warner and a company of ringers formed, . . . a most respectable set. . . . had never heard any change-ringing, and so created one set of change-ringers out of a lot of agricultural labourers in a district where change-ringing is entirely unknown. . . . Tenor 14½ cwt."

WEEK-END BELLRINGING COURSE AT HEREFORD

Ringers from Berkshire, Oxford, Hertfordshire, Bedfordshire, Yorkshire, London, Birmingham, Shropshire, Surrey and Herefordshire were attracted to Hereford on April 5th to attend a bellringing course at Hereford Training College. The college, used by kind permission of the principal and L.E.A., proved to be an ideal venue because of the excellent facilities available.

About 50 ringers were welcomed by the director of the course, Mr. W. F. Moreton. He had been ably assisted with the preparatory work by the man on the spot, Mr. A. T. Wingate, Master of the Hereford Diocesan Guild. Mr. Moreton had mustered a notable team of lecturers to support him. The course offered a variety of subjects and covered many facets of the bellringers' art. Running parallel to the main course was an advanced course; a small group of ringers studying composition and conducting under Mr. W. E. Critchley and Mr. C. K. Lewis.

The tone and high standard of the course was set from the start, by the first lecture given by Mr. F. Sharpe, president of the Central Council. He freely gave of his wealth of knowledge and experience; his meticulous attention to preparation and detail, his unique display of pictures, bells and visual aids, his courteous, easy manner and, above all, his enthusiasm, could not fail to stir the most lethargic or somnolent ringer.

This quality was maintained by the feast of eloquence, enthusiasm and erudition displayed by the other lecturers—Mr. N. Chaddock, Mr. W. F. Moreton and Mr. P. M. J. Gray. It was, therefore, an extremely successful course, and while the exact value cannot be measured, it can do nothing but good for bellringing. Mr. Moreton and his colleagues are to be congratulated, and it is hoped that, in spite of the hard work involved, they can be persuaded to arrange more courses later.

Tired ringers dispersed after tea on Sunday, much richer for their experience at Hereford, N.J.S.

TOWERS, like bellringers, have individual characteristics. No two are alike, yet they possess one thing in common. Church towers in multifarious shapes, be they built of brick, stone or timber, form the most distinctive feature of the building in which God is worshipped. They may contain one, two or many bells; numerically it matters little, for every bell has a common purpose: they are the Church's strongest voice; they entreat, remind and exhort. And the person who commands the bell, be he a solitary bellman or a member of a skilled band of bellringers, shares the same joy and satisfaction in the regular and faithful Matin chime and the beautiful melody of changes, which Sunday by Sunday sound above the English countryside The tower is the bellringer's second home. From the individuality of Essex sentinels to the quaint timbered structures of the west, towers are symbols not only of the Church's strength and a singleness of purpose, but they also protect that mystic 'togetherness'—a sense of cordial relationship engendered beneath gently-chiming and rapidly-swinging bells.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

A very successful spring meeting of the Society was held on March 23rd at the pleasant village of Pattingham. Although it is only a few miles west of Wolverhampton, near the Shropshire border, it is in a country residential area.

The ring of eight bells (tenor 14 cwt.) which hangs beneath St. Chad's tall spire, was raised at 3 p.m. and kept going until the Society's form of Evensong, which was conducted by the Rector, Rev. E. C. Hayward. The Rector said the Society was very welcome to Pattingham, and some members could not remember when the last meeting was held there.

Only cups of tea were served at the Village Hall opposite, as it was 'bring your own tea.' Afterwards the hon. secretary asked all members to hand all copy for the next annual report to him by June 22nd next (annual meeting) in writing. The forthcoming striking competition would take place at Little Aston on May 4th, all bands assembling at 3 p.m. The rules were as previously announced, but it was made clear that only attached resident members would be allowed to take part. Closing entry date, April 27th.

Subject to permission, the next meeting will be held at Newborough and Needwood on May 11th. The following new members were elected: P. Challenor (Bilston), Miss S. C. Guthrie, Miss J. Ansell, Miss S. J. Dey, R. D. Baker, J. P. Darrall, D. Hiscock (all of Cannock), M. J. Stephens (Lichfield Cathedral), Miss C. Follis (Little Aston) and D. J. Bates (Wednesbury) as resident members. The following four ringers were also elected to honorary life membership: W. Benton (Cannock), E. G. Bowyer (Penn), T. Roden (Wednesbury) and T. Smith (Wolverhampton).

Our thanks to all who made us so welcome, and to Mrs. B. G. Key for playing the organ at short notice.

OBITUARY

MR. FRANK OAKSHOTT'S PEALS

Although the late Mr. Frank Oakshott, of Christ Church, Epsom, and Master of the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Guild, did not have a large peal total, by some standards, the list has two unusual features. Only 11 of the 60 peals were rung before 1945 (the first in 1918). The Surprise peals were all rung in the last three years of his life, and the methods were learned at an age when most ringers are content to enjoy ringing methods they already know.

The peals were rung in 19 towers, of which the largest number, 21, were rung at Christ Church, Epsom, of which tower he had been captain for so long. They were rung for nine Associations, mostly for the Surrey (29) and Guildford (24).

The summary is as follows:

Minor.—Plain Bob 3 (conducted 1), Cambridge Surprise 1, 4 methods 1, 7 methods 1. Total 6 (1).

Triples.—Grandsire 24 (1), Stedman 2, Oxford Bob 1, Plain Bob 1. Total 28 (1).

Major.—Plain Bob 13, Kent Treble Bob 4, Double Norwich 2, Cambridge Surprise 2, New Cambridge Surprise 1, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob 1, Lincolnshire Surprise 1, Superlative Surprise 1, Yorkshire Surprise 1. Total 26.

Mr. Oakshott's peal book contained records of 113 quarter peals. In pride of place must be put the first quarter by a local band for 25 years, which is entered in 1955. This was followed by such progress by the Sunday service band, that it has often featured among the leading towers in Surrey for the number of quarter peals rung annually. His ambition for the band to ring a quarter of Surprise was achieved in 1962, but Stedman proved elusive, despite numerous attempts.

Another feat he did not live to see was a peal by members of his family, most of whom can ring. However, he has left a young band of ringers who will cherish his memory and try to keep the flag flying for him.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The quarterly business meeting of the Bedford District was held at Harrold on April 6th, where, despite the windy weather, over 40 ringers in all enjoyed the use of the very good six. Ringing ranged from rounds and plain hunting on six to London and Beverley Surprise.

At the meeting it was decided that the May meeting should be cancelled, owing to the annual meeting of the Association being held on May 4th. The towers for the next two meetings were chosen as: Willington, for June, and Felmersham, for July.

A vote of thanks was proposed by the chairman, Mr. J. Hilson, to Rev. T. Dix for conducting the service and for the use of the bells, and to the local ladies for providing such an excellent tea.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The Tonbridge District held a quarterly meeting jointly with the Kent Branch of the Ladies' Guild at Penshurst on April 6th.

Ringing began in the afternoon, followed by tea and a service, conducted by the Rector (Rev. A. Curry), with the Rev. P. N. Bond reading the lesson. The business meeting followed, when arrangements for the annual meeting were discussed, and sidesmen proposed from among the members present, to officiate at the annual service on Easter Monday. Three new members were elected.

The members of the Ladies' Guild held their own business meeting, while the remaining company made use of the bells. Ringing continued until 8 p.m., in a variety of methods.

Another member of the Kent 'third Saturday' band, Mr. John Cooper, was married on April 6th, and, in honour of the occasion, most of the other members of that band, with a few additions, rang a peal of Lincolnshire at Breachley. Also in the county a band, which includes John, meets on the second Saturday, and past and present members of this band were also successful with a peal of 27 Surprise Minor methods at Hothfield, where the marriage was solemnised.

A quarter peal was rung at Droitwich Spa, Worcestershire, for practice fully muffled to avoid disturbing the parish.

The peal at Ilmington, Warks (see page 219), was rung as a birthday compliment to Mr. Charles Sabin, 62 years a ringer at this church, and not as published.

The farewell achievement of Mr. Ronald K. Russ, before leaving for Adelaide, Australia, was to ring his first peal in 42 methods/variations.

Mr. Donald A. Kirk is leaving Lincolnshire on appointment as headmaster of a county primary school at Stedham, near Midhurst, Sussex.

Who was the well-known Southampton conductor who after ringing four courses of one of his own compositions of Yorkshire realised that it was only 4,800 changes long? Was 30 seconds' checking worth seven pints of bitter?!

The five bells at Lapworth, Warwickshire, have been rehung and a treble added. The bells are to be dedicated on Sunday, April 28th, at 6 p.m. Evensong. There will be ringing after the service.

Slough ringers have rung three quarters this Lent to welcome visiting preachers from churches with bells of their own. There was good striking on each occasion. Our correspondent hopes that they took away with them a good impression of Sunday service ringing at Slough—in case they should mention their visit to their local ringers!

BELFRY GOSSIP

Another first peal on the bells is claimed at Barford St. Martin, Wiltshire, which were cast as a ring of five by William Cockey, of Frome, in 1732, and made a six in 1906. The tenor was rung with part of one of its brasses fractured and missing.

The peal at Coleman's Hatch on April 1st was the first peal by a local East Grinstead band for 28 years.

About 15 Newcastle upon Tyne ringers had a two-day Easter trip around Loughborough and Grantham.

To the memory of Mr. E. Russell, 780 Plain Bob Doubles was rung at St. Katherine's Church, Mersham, Surrey, on April 7th, after an unsuccessful peal attempt.

The peal at Llandabarn Fawr, Cardiganshire, on page 233 of the April 5th issue of the 'R.W.' was also printed on page 179 of the March 15th issue. The duplication is regretted.

Since the Bristol Cathedral School Guild of Ringers was formed, 2½ years ago, eight pupils of the school have rung their first peal; several more have rung quarters. It is hoped that they will all get together some time in the near future and ring a peal.

Ringers at All Saints, West Bromwich, were very delighted to welcome back Mr. Albert Mills, after a long illness. They were particularly pleased that he was able to take part in ringing again. They were also pleased to see Mr. William Peart back in the belfry, and are hoping that he will soon be ringing again.

Mr. E. Weatherby, of Los Angeles, California, has sent 20 lb. of change ringing books to Mr. Russell S. Young, of Groton School, Massachusetts, to help the boys in their studies of our art. Mr. Weatherby rang at the school in 1926. This week we publish a quarter of Stedman Doubles rung at the school, and Mr. Young informs us that attempts at quarter peals are to be made on each Sunday afternoon this term. The school hope to advance to Triples and then to Caters.

THE LADIES' GUILD

In the lovely, spacious Church of All Saints, Poplar, the Central District held its annual meeting on March 30th. An hour's ringing preceded the Sung Evensong, and then followed an excellent tea.

There were changes in the officers made at the business meeting.

Mrs. Savory was elected vice-president, and the retiring vice-president, Mrs. T. J. Lock, was elected secretary. The meeting thanked Mrs. Lock for the faithful discharge of her term of office, and also expressed regret that Mrs. Bullock had to give up the secretaryship. Four committee members elected were: Mrs. Bullock, Mrs. R. Fardon, Miss R. Foreman and Mrs. H. G. Hart. Two Central Committee members elected were Mrs. Bullock and Miss A. Horsford.

Business over, ringing continued in a variety of methods up to Cambridge Royal until 9 p.m.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Approximately 30 ringers attended the evening meeting held at Greasley on March 23.

Ringin' commenced at 5.30, and was interrupted only for a short business meeting in the belfry at 7 p.m., when the next meeting was confirmed as being at Hucknall on May 25th. This being the District cup contest, it was proposed and carried that Greasley bells be made available during the afternoon.

Ringin' then continued in a variety of methods to suit everyone, including all learners. With the belfry comfortably full right up until ringin' ceased at 9.30 p.m., a very enjoyable evening was had by all. D. J. B.

We regret to announce the death on April 10th of Canon R. F. Wilkinson, who from 1940 to 1961 was Vicar of West Bridgford, Nottingham, and previously Rector of Ordsall. He was also chairman of the Southwell Diocesan Guild.
